CHEYENNE - The Wyoming Department of Education, in collaboration with the Department of Enterprise Technology Services and Carbon County School District #1, invites you to join us for the upcoming Wyoming Summit featuring Google for Education to be held at Rawlins High School on June 3 & 4, 2014. The WDE is inviting all Superintendents to nominate two representatives from their districts to attend the summit. All registration, lodging, and mileage costs for the nominees will be reimbursed at the state rates. Contact the WDE with your nominations by May 12th.

This high intensity, two-day event focuses on deploying, integrating, and using Google Apps for Education™ and other Google tools to promote student learning in K-12 and higher education. The Summit is intended for teachers, school leaders, and technical directors. Attendees will have access to hands-on concurrent sessions with a variety of information led by experienced and knowledgeable presenters.

Pre-Summit one-day workshops are available on June 2nd (see conference site for additional costs).

In addition to the Google Education presenters, we are seeking Wyoming educators to present and share their expertise using Google to innovate within schools and classrooms. All presenters receive free registration for the event.
