Quantum Learning for Teachers, Level 1: “Building the System” will be offered at the Spring School Improvement Conference 2011

Quantum Learning for Teachers (QLT) Level 1 is the first day of the five-level popular workshop. It will be delivered during both days of the conference in three hour sessions.

Quantum Learning is based on over 27 years of experience and research with more than 45,000 educators across the nation. This staff development helps teachers to orchestrate success by modeling proven strategies that motivate students and boost achievement. Quantum Learning addresses teachers' most significant needs including student engagement, content design, presentation/delivery, behavior management, character education, academic strategies and over-all classroom environment. The Quantum Learning System is a synergy of best practices supported by educational research that can be framed around any K-12 subject or content that is taught in the classroom.

Quantum Learning for Teachers

Quantum Learning® for administrators

Using the Quantum Learning System, you will:

1. Increase your leadership capacity and your ability to orchestrate sustainable motivation throughout your educational organization.
2. Improve staff and student motivation and performance with valuable new leadership tools.
3. Explore a new definition of leadership while modeling, positively motivating, and implementing specific school initiatives.
4. Create an empowering atmosphere and culture in your school.

Christian Rauch, Quantum Learning Education, Sr. Educational Consultant

Christian Rauch has served as both a teacher and an administrator at the elementary, middle and high school levels. His teaching experience includes small classrooms in rural settings, as well as in large classrooms in urban settings. Regardless of the locale, his students and staff enjoy his energy and passion for them and learning.

Christian has also worked a variety of positions with Quantum Learning Education over the last ten years — including training teachers, students, leadership teams and parents. These diverse experiences have prepared Christian to interact more effectively with all types of educators.

Christian graduated Summa Cum Laude from Utah State University. He earned his M.Ed. in the nationally-recognized Leadership Preparation Program at Brigham Young University. Christian is married and the proud father of four children.
