PRESENTERS NEEDED: 2019 WYO. INNOVATIONS CONFERENCE

Share your innovative teaching practices at the third annual Wyoming Innovations in Learning conference on November 6-8, 2019 in Gillette. The Innovations Conference is seeking proposals from kindergarten through higher education.

With advances in new technologies, education is rapidly taking off in new directions that will substantially impact how students learn. Everything from gamification and cloud computing to virtual learning and the use of big data is already having a dramatic effect on the educational process. Please consider submitting a presentation if you:

- Use technology to promote students curiosity.
- Boost student engagement in your classroom by utilizing digital tools.
- Have strategies to engage the struggling learner and tools to empower students to deepen their learning.
- Want to share and explore innovative teaching and learning practices with other educators.

Hands on sessions are strongly encouraged, and all presenters will be given a discounted rate to attend the Innovations Conference.

Session proposals will be accepted through May 3, 2019. Selected presenters will be notified of their inclusion in the conference by May 31. Session proposals can be submitted on this form.

This conference is hosted by the Wyoming Department of Education, the Wyoming Distance Education Consortium, the Wyoming State Library, the University of Wyoming, the Wyoming community colleges, and school libraries.
