Wyoming Department of Education (WDE) recognizes the importance of informed and well-trained Career and Technical Education (CTE) educators. The WDE aims to increase the retention rates of CTE teachers and strengthen programs of study in districts. A CTE teacher is essential to the future success of our students as well as the workforce. CTE programs prepare students today to become tomorrow's future business and community leaders. It is vitally important that the ever-changing relevant knowledge and skills needed in the current workforce be understood.

This orientation is a great way to learn about:

- Professional organizations.
- Funding opportunities.
- Programs of Study and Concentrators.
- Available resources.
- And so much more.

Join the free virtual New CTE Educator Orientation from 9 a.m. – noon on August 28, 2020. Registration is available here. Four focused professional development points are available for this training. Prior to the training, participants will receive an agenda and Zoom link.

Each attendee must complete their own form. The WDE can accept only one attendee per registration.
