

Wyoming Department of Education

Cindy Hill, Superintendent of Public Instruction
Hathaway Building, 2nd Floor, 2300 Capitol Avenue
Cheyenne WY 82002-0050

Phone: (307) 777-7675 | Fax: (307) 777-6234 | Website: edu.wyoming.gov

PRESS Release

Local Teacher of the Year, Roseanna Davison, Receives Accolades

Platte County School District #2 teacher, Roseanna Davison, received district Teacher of the Year award for 2015, according to Superintendent of Public Instruction Cindy Hill. Davison, a teacher for 30 years, serves as second grade teacher at Guernsey-Sunrise Elementary School.

“I believe my greatest accomplishment in education has been to inspire and give hope to many children,” says Davison. “They can be whatever they can dream with hard work and a good education,” she says.

Accountability is a current buzz word in educational circles. Davison addresses this topic: “Student success should drive accountability, but success should be a broader concept than a test score snapshot.”

Davison, who will receive a crystal apple award from the Wyoming Department of Education, says, “My heart soars when I’ve made a difference. I’ve seen this happen year after year with literally hundreds of students. To me, teaching and inspiring students to love to learn is a lifelong dream.”