

The Nita M. Lowey 21st Century Community Centers Program (21stCCLC) offers no-cost summer learning and school year programs for students in many communities across Wyoming. Programs are designed to align and complement what students are learning during the school day while offering activities based on what kids say they are interested in! Taught by afterschool professionals, certified staff, and community partners, all programs are built on foundational youth development practices and strategies. Families are an integral part of programs and are always welcome and encouraged to participate in many different intergenerational activities as well as activities to support the needs of families in the communities in which the programs operate.

Summer meals and snacks are provided in collaboration with school districts and local community partners and families are supported through connections to other local activity and program providers.

The list of programs includes contact information and the schools that the program serves.. All 21stCCLC programs encourage participation by home school and private school students and families. They also make special outreach efforts to include students experiencing housing issues and students in foster care! Call or email the program coordinators for information or assistance with registration options for extraordinary summer learning experiences!
